ROCKFELLER JUNIOR BRANDS PROHIBITION IN U.S. AS FAILURE

NEW YORK, June 7—John D.
Rockefeller, Jr., lifelong and staunch advocate of temperance, Monday branded the 18th amendment of the United States constitution a failure and urged it to be repealed.

"I was born a teetotaler; all my life I have been a teetotaler on principle," he added.

We Found It Out

Those who lived in Alberta during prohibition days do not need to freshen their memories very much to recall what a failure it was.

We had prohibition in name only, it was rotten to the core, and will be again if the "social uplifters," the professional prohibitionists, bootleggers and moonshiners,
have their way.

There are several staunch prohibitionists right here in this district who will never vote for prohibition again, let alone work for it—"once was enough."

BONUS PERIOD IS EXTENDED

The Dominion Government has extended the period of the wheat bonus from June 15 to June 30.

There is considerable wheat to be marketed in this district and the continued wet weather has delayed hauling so that the extension of time will be appreciated.

Arnold and Alton Michel left on Tuesday with a carload of effects for their homesteads in the Peace River country.

Heavy Laden Trucks Should Be Prohibited

The highway from Balzac to Calgary is in bad condition, you can get through but it is a rough and slow proposition.

It is necessary to detour while grading is being done, and trucks have cut in ruts in places two feet deep. Heavy rains during the past two months have put the new grade in bad condition, but it would be passable if trucks carrying eight and nine tons were prohibited, as it is they have been allowed to tear the road to pieces, day and night continually.

The Provincial Government might just as well throw their money in the sewer as try to keep up the roads for trucks hauling nine to twelve tons.

The increased license on trucks does not begin to pay for the damage these juggernauts have caused this spring.

Village Council Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Village Council was held on Monday evening. Present, Mayor J. M. Williams, Councillors C. Asmussen and R. Nichol.

It was decided to make the necessary repairs to the interior of the fire hall.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Sheriff for a warrant to make seizures for business taxes.

The Council as a whole will act as a committee in connection with the nuisance grounds fence.

The passing of accounts brought a rather short session to a close.

Bad roads and a soggy field did not stop the Hawkeye and East Community softball teams from playing on Sunday at the East

munity won with a cricket score of 19 to 31.

Hawkeye started off with 7 runs in the first inning and looked to be going places, but the East Com. murderous row turned on in the sixth and collected no less than 16 runs in this inning. Errors and heavy hitting featured the game.

ELBA TOO GOOD FOR CROSSFIELD

The Crossfield girl's softball team met the Elba team at East Community on Monday night, and were defeated by a score of 23-8. The Crossfield team coached by D. L.
Twedell show plenty of promise but also need plenty of practice.

A return game will be played in Crossfield in the near future when the locals hope to give the strong Elba team a better game.

Have You Seen Major's Automatic Window Stop ?

A local company is being formed to put W. Major's automatic window stop on the market.

Mr. Major has really got something that should be a great seller and it is hoped that enough shares can be sold in this district so as to keep the industry in Cross field.

Anyone interested in this patent should call in and see it demonstrated at the office of A. W. Gordon, Main Street.

Don't Forget the Park

It's about time the Parks Committee of the Village Council turned their attention to the park. The hedges are badly in need of trimming and plowing or digging around the trees should be done.

Is It Better to Steal Than Beg ?

A writer in the Vegreville Observer, is puzzled, like others, by the apparent discrepancies in administering the law. He takes as an example a man tried at Vegreville for stealing a load of hay. His sentence was one hour in charge of the R. C. M. P. At Edmonton another man begged for bread and drew 20 days at the Fort as a sentence. The deduction is that it pays better to steal wheat than to beg for bread.

THE QUESTION BOX

If it costs around seven cents a meal to feed the unemployed in the city of Calgary, then how is it that the contractor on the highway near Balzac, gets away with a charge of $1.00 a day for board for men who are working on the road, under the Provincial and Federal Government relief scheme ?

Is 60 percent of the men and teams working on this road hired on the relief plan according to the contract ?

This is a condition that our Members of Parliament might investigate.

Real estate is humming, the Village council disposed of five lots this week, Mr. Kurstin has purchased four lots in the north end of town formerly held by Fred Pullan, and Sam Collins purchased a lot on the west side of his home.

Scientists At Ottawa Suggest That There Be Two Major Divisions Of Geological Time

Standard time consisting of eons, eras, suberas and periods is the aim of the national committee on stratigraphical nomenclature. Dr. F. J. Alcock, of the geological survey of Canada, chairman, told Section 4 of the Royal Society of Canada meeting at Ottawa.

It is the opinion of the committee that geological time, previous to the development of abundant life on the earth's surface is at least as great as geological time from that development until the present moment. The suggestion is that, therefore, there should be two major divisions, and that these be known as "eons."

Seven hundred million years was the estimate of some members of the section of the length of the latter eon, and they thought the former to be much longer. Granite rocks in Manitoba, have been stated to have an age of 2,500,000,000 years.

At the same session a paper by Prof. J. S. Delury, of the University of Manitoba, speculated on the earth's development and composition. The belief expressed was that the centre of the earth consists of heavy, dense metallic substances; that its crust consisted of lighter rocks and that in between lies the great zone of flowage and adjustments. The earth, Prof. Delury stated, is losing heat in an exceptionally large amount from certain more or less restricted belts of the earth's surface. Once, millions of years ago, the escape of heat in this way occurred in Canada; now it is chiefly in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands in the Pacific Ocean. Supporting his thesis, Prof. Delury reported that the temperature rises one degree every 400 feet down in the Frodo mine of Northern Ontario. In Hawaii the temperature rises one degree in every 30 feet.

How aerial photography has achieved results for geologists which on foot they would have been years in securing was shown by D. A. Nichols of the geological survey, who exhibited an unusual series of photographs taken by the Royal Canadian Air Force. In these pictures, taken chiefly in the Athabasca, Great Bear and Great Slave Lake and Arctic areas of Canada, land forms such as faults, dykes, folds, fjords, eskers and beaches (formed years ago) were clearly defined and some were shown to extend for many miles. Some of these were recognized from descriptions given by members of the geological survey as many as 40 years ago.

Further light, of value to miners and prospectors, of British Columbia, was thrown on the study of granite rocks known as the Coast Batholith, which extends 1,200 miles from a point near the international boundary northward and westward into Alaska. The survey work of the geological survey, which began in this area as far back as 1851, has provided additional information year by year. Once it was thought the possibilities of finding valuable deposits were as good in one part of the area as another. The geological survey is indicating where the prospects are good and where they are not. Detailed studies, for instance, have shown that mineral deposits occur associated with certain types of rock and the mapping of these areas provides valuable guides.

Authors of papers given were Dr. Forrest Kerr, of the geological survey; Dr. S. J. Schofield, of the University of British Columbia, and Dr. H. C. Gunning, also of the geological survey.

Quebec's maple sugar crop for 1932, which is roughly estimated at 24,000,000 pounds, is double that of last year, though 6,000,000 pounds under average.

"Did that suit really cost 68?"
"Yes, I can show you 15 demands for payment."—Kasper, Stockholm.

Lessons By Radio

Use Of Broadcasting To Further Education In The West

The use of radio broadcasting to extend the benefits of university training was urged upon the 15th national conference of Canadian universities at Ottawa by Professor E. A. Corbett, director of extra-mural relations at the University of Alberta, and co-ordinator of the university's radio station, CKUA. This university has been a pioneer in the use of the radio for educational purposes in Canada and has developed a considerable volume of educational broadcasting which covers practically the whole province.

Professor Corbett recently appeared before the parliamentary committee on radio broadcasting with a brief prepared in the interest of educational broadcasting and had made a study of this work in those sections of the United States in which this work has been carried on to a considerable extent.

Some of the work of Canadian universities, aimed at making Canada a truly bilingual country, was described.

The subject of the first session was "Modern Language Teaching," and dealt almost entirely with the teaching of French in English universities, and the teaching of English in French speaking universities.

Abbe Alexander Vachon, Laval University, observed that practically every Quebec member of the House of Commons could express himself adequately in the English language, and that many could speak with equal facility in either language. At Laval an attempt was made to give every graduate a complete mastery of the English language, even though he might enter the college with no English.

The British Way

Right Of Free Speech Not Curtailed In Hyde Park

While the great American people—followed by the great Canadian people in their turn—are falling over themselves to put down the right of free speech when it is even faintly suspected that there may be a tinge of red in it, it is refreshing to read that in the land of true liberty they do things differently.

Word comes in the English press of the Communist celebrations in London on May Day. Hyde Park was filled with Communists, 30 speeches were made simultaneously, and great resolutions passed. Then they went home. No one was injured and the police merely looked on—Vancouver Free Press.

Figured He Was Wrestler

Paderewski's Name Meant Nothing To Spokane Express Agent

From the far other shore of this broad land, from Spokane, Washington, to be specific, is relayed one of a telephone conversation overheard by a traveller. It was the express agent at the railroad station there calling the Auditorium Theatre. He got his connection and asked for the man who handled the wrestling matches.

"Hello," he said, "is this the man that handles the wrestling?"
"Well, we got a big crate here and we didn't know what theatre to send it to. We figure it's yours. You got a wrestler coming by the name of Paderewski?"

Society Learns How Insulin Is Produced

Paper Read At Ottawa Meeting By Dr. Banting's Associate

Present methods of producing insulin, Canadian discovered diabetes remedy, in large quantities were described to the Royal Society of Canada in a paper by D. A. Scott and H. Parker, read by Dr. C. H. Best, Toronto associate of Dr. F. G. Banting.

Newest laboratory practice resulting from long research enables production of 2,000 units of insulin from one flogram of pancreas, a gland-secreting digestive fluid, the paper said.

Living Conditions In Ireland Have Improved

Change For Better Since Free State Came Into Being

An article by Charles Peirce, in Nineteenth Century and After, says: the general standard of living is decidedly lower in Ireland than in England, and both wireless sets and gramophones are still regarded in the light of luxuries rather than as necessities. On the other hand, the farmer's wife and daughters are not trying so hard to be ladies that they have no time to take their share in the work of the farm. Moreover, there has been a great change for the better since the Free State came into being, even where the poorest class of the population is concerned. The crumbling cottages of generations ago have either been repaired or replaced by more modern dwellings, and in their new surroundings the inhabitants have acquired a new self respect. Beggars are as rare in the Free State as in Fascist Italy, and the Londoner who visits Dublin will find it a decided relief not to be pestered for money every few yards along the street. Only in the more remote parts of Galway is the down-at-heel peasant of yore still to be seen, for elsewhere he has been replaced by the type of countryman of whom any country might well be proud. Inebriety, too, is on the decline, possibly for economic reasons.

Industries In India

Sugar and Cotton Trade Is Showing Big Increase

India continues to prove itself the land of strange contradictions. Despite its own condition, Sir George Schuster, its Finance Minister, finds that India's budget, which is balanced over a three-year period will show a surplus. Gold sales at a high price explain the satisfactory situation only in part. The sugar industry, for instance, is expanding. 13 important factories being in construction and several others planned. The cotton mill trade shows large increase. Postoffice savings deposits are expected to advance one-third this year. A cheerful disclosure is made as to where the ready resources lie—the masses show that they have a considerable amount of money available for investment.

An Ironic Fact

It is a somewhat ironic fact that the little village of Bond Head, in Eastern Ontario, should be the birthplace of two of the most distinguished Canadians of the generation following the pioneer days, one of whom Sir William Osler, was famous for the contention that men were useless above 60 years of age, while the other Sir William Moulton, has had nearly 30 years of the highest form of usefulness after passing that age and at nearly 90 is still going strong.

Will Be Great Help

Another helpful little item is reported from England where a scientist has succeeded in splitting the atom. Folks who heretofore have been compelled to use a whole atom at one time and waste part of it can now use half as atom, and be mighty glad of it.

A freshman at Indiana University, taking out a permit to use his car while in residence, found himself confronted with the following question: "Purpose for which car is to be used?" In the blank he wrote: "To ride in."

Nautical blue and white print in batiste, because it is so popular, is chosen by this smart junior. "And don't you think it is effective?" The joyful bodice and bust at the front to simulate a bolero are of plain batiste. It tones with the blue shade.

Canadian Radio League Officials Regret That Salaried Commission Will Conduct Broadcast System

Noise May Accompany Auroral Display

Possibility Being Studied By Royal Society Of Canada

The question of whether sounds sometimes accompany auroral displays in the sky came in for discussion before section three of the Royal Society of Canada at Ottawa.

Just because the currently held belief as to the cause and nature of aurora does not provide for any sound to be heard, Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the astrophysical observatory on Vancouver Island and the holder of the Flavelle medal of the Royal Society of Canada for 1932, thinks that the great body of evidence that sounds have been heard should not be discarded.

He read a paper before the section, prepared by Dr. C. S. Beals, of the observatory staff, in which it was stated that the only interpretation of the observations which seems to fit all the facts is that both the sounds and low level apparitions sometimes reported are real and that they constitute normal though perhaps unusual accompaniments of other auroral phenomena.

"If this is so," it is stated further, "there must be some definite physical process taking place close to the earth's surface which is able to produce the effects that have been observed. The aurora has long been considered to be electrical in origin and the hypothesis that the auroral sounds and low level displays are due to some sort of electrical discharge near the surface of the earth seems a very reasonable one."

Assist Poultrymen

Hon. Robert Weir, Minister Of Agriculture, Promotes Continuation Of Government Aid

Continuation of the assistance given by the government to poultry breeders desirous of securing registered cockerels for their flocks, was announced by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture. The assistance amounts to transportation charges and a sum of $1.25 per bird toward the purchase price providing the cockerels pass the inspection tests and are shipped in lots of ten or more.

The purchases must be made from bona fide breeders entered under the federal policies of registration or record of performance. There is no restriction to the sale price.

Plenty To Learn

And while on the subject of the excessive expense accounts of our legislators and government officials, let it be observed that members of the British parliament are now allowed only third-class fares when they travel, and even at that the tickets are issued only between London and their constituencies. We've a lot to learn from the old land—Farmers' Sun.

Wealth Hoarded In States

Money estimated to amount to $1,300,000,000 is being hoarded by Americans in the United States, President Hoover, in a recent appeal for the release of this money, stated that every dollar thus hoarded was equal to the destruction of from five to ten dollars in credit."

Regret that a salaried commission was to be appointed to conduct Canada's proposed new radio broadcasting system was expressed by officials of the Canadian Radio League, which organization was largely instrumental in the presentation to the parliamentary committees of the basis for the radio policy adopted at the session just concluded. It had been felt by the league that the commission should be composed of voluntary workers, "thus ensuring greater freedom from political interference, and constituting a buffer between the government and the operating organization."

A statement was issued by Allan Plaut, honorary secretary, following a meeting at Ottawa at which it was shown that the organization had been financed since its inception 18 months ago, at a total cost of $5,000, more than half of which, Mr. Plaut said, was contributed by members of the executive.

The league will remain in existence as a "watchdog and friendly critic" of the proposed "Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission," as it is stated, and will branch out with a view to securing more members and a wider organization.

Satisfaction was expressed at the successful conclusion of the campaign directed by the league and at the terms of the Radio bill adopted by parliament, except that it was felt, if salaries were to be paid the commissioners, they should be larger than those provided. The legislation authorized a salary of $10,000 for the chairman and $5,000 for the two commissioners.

Graham Spry, chairman of the league, said that the salary of the chairman did not equal that paid either responsible business positions or leading university presidents. The commission would handle as much as $4,000,000 a year, he said and would be controlling programmes that would be listened to by the whole of Canada for a number of hours a day. Such responsibility should be vested only in the most intelligent and competent hands, "but the commission, as proposed, cut off the possibility of voluntary service and does not try enough to ensure that at least the chairman will be an experienced and responsible man," he said.

Indian Athlete

Native At Fort Chipewyan Makes High Jump Record

Canadian Olympic committee officials seeking point winners for the Los Angeles games might well turn to latent material among Indian tribes in the Northwest Territories if an athletic record in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police annual report is accurate.

According to Inspector H. Royal-Gagnon, a young Indian whom he does not name jumped six feet one inch at a field meet held at Fort Chipewyan. Knowing nothing of the high jumping act, the Indian, the inspector relates, "just jumps over."

To Ameliorate Conditions

World Conference To Consider Price Slump Is Considered

Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon has asked the foreign office whether Britain believes a world conference to consider the universal slump in commodity prices would ameliorate the general economic crisis.

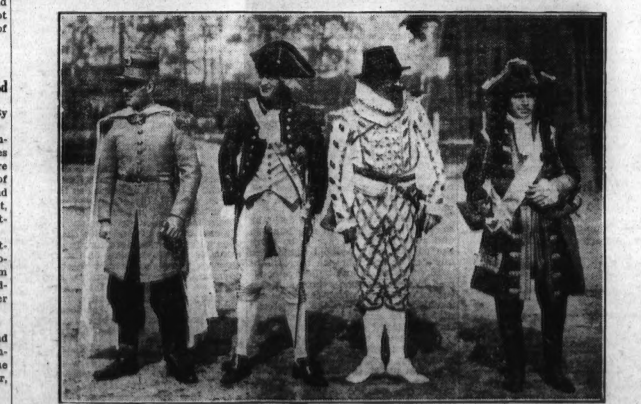

The ambassador discussed the question with Sir John Simon, the British secretary of foreign affairs, but thus far nothing definite has developed. The ambassador's query remains under consideration by the British government.

HER FAT HAD TO GO

Activity Melted It

Exercise is the enemy of fat. If you are overburdened with this superfluous flesh, call up reserves of energy to fight it. Do as this lady did—

"During the past six months, I have made steady improvement whilst taking Kruschen Salts. I have reduced 25 lbs. in weight during that period, and have benefited greatly from greater agility and liveliness—directly attributable to that famous preparation."—Mrs. W. P.

You can take off fat with Kruschen Salts if you will take one-half teaspoon in hot water every morning before breakfast, modify your diet and exercise regularly.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer, and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings. The old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing. You'll enjoy work and active recreation and you'll sleep like a top. You'll lose fat, and probably live years longer.

Speed Of Aeroplane

Man Can Now Travel By Plane

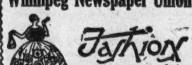

Man is able to travel today with the speed of a bullet. When Flight Lieutenant Stainforth of the British navy, winner of the 1931 Schneider trophy race, made a speed for the first lap of 412.3 miles an hour, he actually went faster than the maximum speed of a bullet from a British service revolver.

This bullet has a muzzle velocity of 600 feet a second, or 400.0 miles an hour. Therefore, if a revolver were fired just as the flyer passed, in theory the bullet might be expected to travel along beside the ship, and the flyer might feel safe in reaching out and touching it, or even putting it in his pocket while it was still proceeding at full speed.

The flyer's speed might also be said to have been faster than the average speed of a Springfield rifle bullet, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Such a missile leaves the muzzle at 2,653 feet a second, equal to 1,808.9 miles an hour, and its average speed over its effective range of 1,000 yards is 1,270 miles an hour. However, after the bullet has covered its effective range, it floats on and on, until, slowed down by air resistance, it drops to the ground. At the end of its flight, it has very little speed, and if the average is taken, it is found to be less than for the plane at top speed. The bullet would win, however, if the plane's speed were averaged in the same way.

Taxes: Title to land sold for taxes will not be issued until June 15, 1932, unless the municipality or council has exempted the land from the provision of the Act passed for the protection of land owners. Under the new Act authorizing the postponement of issue of Certificate of Title to Land sold for taxes, any owner of land lying within a municipality sold for taxes in 1929, or in any preceding year, in respect of which a certificate of title has not been issued, may make application to the council of the municipality within which the land lies for a certificate postponing the issue of certificate of title to the land until the thirtieth day of November, 1932. If the council fails or refuses to grant the application and to issue the certificate of postponement, the owner may apply to a judge of the district court for the required certificate, and the decision of the judge in the matter shall be final. If you are unable to take an appeal before a Judge of the District Court, you may take the Debt Adjustment Commissioner for assistance.

If your land has been sold for taxes in the year 1929, or any preceding year, you are advised to consult the Secretary-Treasurer of your Rural Municipality, or Council, without delay, because after June 15th, if a certificate is not issued to you, title to your land may pass to the purchaser of the tax sale certificate.

The following real and personal property of an execution debtor and his family is free from seizure by virtue of all writs of execution, namely:

1. The necessary and ordinary clothing of himself and his family.

2. Furniture, household furnishings and dairy utensils, to the extent of five hundred dollars.

3. The necessary food for the family of the execution debtor during six months, which may include grain, flour, vegetables and meat either prepared for use or on foot.

4. Four oxen, horses or mules, or any four of them, six cows, six sheep, your pigs, and fifty head of fowls besides the animals the execution debtor may have chosen to keep for food purposes, and food for the same for the months of November, December, January, February, March and April, or for such of these months or portions thereof as may follow the date of seizure provided such seizure be made between the first day of April and the thirtieth day of April next ensuing.

5. The harness necessary for four animals, one wagon or two carts, one mowing or cradle and scythe, one breaking plough, one cross plough, one set of harrow, one horse rake, one sewing machine, one reaper or binder, one set of sleighs and one seed drill.

6. The books of a professional man.

7. The tools and necessary implements to the extent of two hundred dollars used by the execution debtor in the practice of his trade or profession.

8. Seed grain sufficient to sow all his land under cultivation and to the value of one hundred and sixty acres, at the rate of two bushels per acre, dependent to have choice of seed and fourteen bushels of potatoes for planting.

9. The homestead, provided the same be not more than one hundred and sixty acres; in case it is more the surplus may be subject to any lien or encumbrance thereon.

10. The house and buildings occupied by the execution debtor and the lot or lots on which the same are situated according to the registered plan of the same, to the extent of three thousand dollars.

In the event of a chattel mortgage having been given covering horses, machinery, etc., the debtor is still protected under the Exemptions Act for the chattels mentioned above.

Should the subject matter of the judgment upon which an execution is issued, represent the amount due on machinery, horses, etc., then such articles are not exempt.

In view of prevailing conditions, the Government of the Province of Saskatchewan deemed it necessary to provide for the temporary curtailment of remedies for the enforcement of payment of certain debts and therefore enacted the Debt Adjustment Act, 1932. This Act extends protection to residents of the province who are actual residents of and personally bona fide engaged in, or the principal part of whose income is derived from farming operations in the province, or urban residents who own their residence, or who are purchasers of their residence under an agreement for sale, or who are retail merchants and includes the executors or administrators of deceased residents if the beneficiaries or any of them are resident of the province.

This Act, in the purpose of assisting debtors who are having difficulties with their creditors. The Commissioner, who administers the Act, endeavours to settle such difficulties but in the event of it being impossible to arrive at an amicable settlement, the Commissioner is authorized to issue a certificate which would be enforceable as a judgment of a court of law. The certificate is referred to as the Debt Adjustment Certificate. It does, however, apply to foreclosure of mortgages, and cancellation of agreements for sale, etc., where the sale order has not been issued by the courts.

In the event of a certificate being issued, the resident debtor complies with the Commissioner's directions as to the disposition of his property.

The Act also provides that the Commissioner is authorized to act as Custodian and Trustee under the Bankruptcy Act and if any farmer is so badly involved that there are no prospects of his being able to pay his debts, then the Commissioner can arrange for bankruptcy proceedings. The farmer is required to make a deposit on an account which will take care of the cash disbursements, but no fees are charged for services of the Department.

The rights of mortgages under crop leases are also affected more than one-third of the crop under the mortgage has purchased the seed and pays the cost of threshing and the balance of the crop is proportionate to the share of the crop to which the farmer is entitled under the mortgage. The farmer who is a lessee, purchaser or mortgagee under any lease, agreement of sale or mortgage, may, at the year's end, if the crop is grown, and in such case, upon production of the receipt of the municipality for such payment, the lessor, vendor or mortgagee shall be entitled only to his one-third share of the crop less the amount shown upon such receipt.

Seizures under any lien agreement, or conditional sale agreement under the Farm Implements Act, or the Conditional Sales Act, must be made by the sheriff of the judicial district within which the seizure is to be made, or under his direction. Generally, this applies to articles bought on the time payment plan such as farm machinery, automobiles, washing machines, cream separators, horses and cattle.

The vendor's right to recovery of the purchase money on articles sold after April 13th, 1932, on credit, or partly for cash and partly on credit, and if the vendor has a lien thereon, is restricted to his lien upon the articles sold and his right of re-possession of such articles in the case of sale of land with chattels upon an entire consideration. In other words, if you pay a lien on the time payment plan and cannot meet the payments, the vendor can repossess the goods but cannot take action against you for the unpaid balance.

The Debt Adjustment Act does not afford protection to urban dwellers who live in rented houses or apartments.

Information regarding the rights and remedies of debtors will be cheerfully given by Commissioner, Debt Adjustment Act, Regina.

Saskatchewan Government Provides For Temporary Curtailment Of Remedies In View Of Conditions

The following information is published by the authority of the Hon. W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture of the Government of the Province of Saskatchewan.

Taxes: Title to land sold for taxes will not be issued until June 15, 1932, unless the municipality or council has exempted the land from the provision of the Act passed for the protection of land owners. Under the new Act authorizing the postponement of issue of Certificate of Title to Land sold for taxes, any owner of land lying within a municipality sold for taxes in 1929, or in any preceding year, in respect of which a certificate of title has not been issued, may make application to the council of the municipality within which the land lies for a certificate postponing the issue of certificate of title to the land until the thirtieth day of November, 1932. If the council fails or refuses to grant the application and to issue the certificate of postponement, the owner may apply to a judge of the district court for the required certificate, and the decision of the judge in the matter shall be final. JUDAH THE TRUE BROTHER

Golden Text: "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."—Psalm 133. 1.

Lesson: Genesis 44:18 to 45:15.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 26:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

Judah's Plea For Benjamin, 44:18-34

Read chapters 42 and 43. Sincerity and depth of feeling mark Judah's plea throughout. He first of all recalls to Joseph's mind—the great man who is "even as Pharaoh,"—the way in which he had insisted upon bringing Benjamin to him. He had asked the brothers if they had father or brother, and they told him that their father was living and with him was the only remaining child of his mother, and his father loveth him. "Bring ye down my father, and the lad is with him," he said. "For he said, 'that I may let mine eyes upon him.' And when they had said that the lad could not leave his father, that his father would die if he did not see him, Judah had emphatically declared, 'Except ye send my brother, come down with you, ye shall see my face no more.'"

Very touching is Judah's picture of his father's reluctance to part with Benjamin, a reluctance overcome at last by dire hunger. But if ye take this one from me, and harm befall him, I will surely bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to Sheol."

"Now therefore, when I come to ye, servants of my father, and the lad is not with us; seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life," thus Judah speaks, trying to place what he could not, must not be—"it will come to pass that he will die." He had been so earnest, so pleading, so full of pathos, trying to place what he could not, must not be—"it will come to pass that he will die." He had been so earnest, so pleading, so full of pathos, trying to place what he could not, must not be—"it will come to pass that he will die."

How much of poetry and of pathos is in that story of the rough, earnest man, only waiting for some reason to smite open the upper crust, and bring the artesian well up."

Joseph Reverts Himself To His Brother, 45:1-15. The stern ruler breaks down as Judah ends his intercession for Benjamin. He is satisfied with the result of his test. His brothers were so good to him, so kind to him, so full of pathos, trying to place what he could not, must not be—"it will come to pass that he will die."

DELEGATES TO IMPERIAL PARLEY ARE APPOINTED

Ottawa, Ont.—With the exception of the Irish Free State and Newfoundland, all countries of the British Empire—the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and Southern Rhodesia—have announced their delegates to the coming Imperial Economic Conference.

Thursday, June 2, New Zealand informed the Canadian Government that her delegates would comprise Premier G. W. Forbes, Hon. W. Downie, Minister of Finance and Customs, and Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, Minister of Transportation and Employment. The three Antipodean representatives will be in Ottawa for the opening of the conference on Thursday, July 21.

Both the Irish Free State and Newfoundland have definitely accepted the invitations of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to be represented. President Esmonde de Valera will head the Irish Free State delegation in all probability. Newfoundland is at present in the throes of a general election campaign, with polling day set for Saturday, June 11. When the electors of the oldest British colony have recorded their opinion of the administration of Sir Richard Squires, selection of the Newfoundland delegates to the conference will follow.

Headed by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, and former Prime Minister of Great Britain, the delegation from the United Kingdom will also include Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions; Rt. Hon. Lord Hailsham, Secretary of State for War; Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade; Rt. Hon. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary of State for the Colonies. The attendance of some of the delegates of the United Kingdom delegation is contingent on developments from the Lausanne Conference and other international engagements.

Prime Minister Bennett, as the first minister in his administration, will be present at all discussions, following the British practice at Imperial Conferences. As occasion necessitates, his colleagues will be changed from time to time, dependent on the matters which are being discussed.

Being Held At Border

Holiday Makers Detained At Victoria By United States Authorities

Victoria, B.C.—A number of holiday-makers from the United States who came to Victoria on Memorial Day excursions were held by United States Immigration Authorities here, waiting investigation of their right to return to the United States. Many former Britishers and Canadians took advantage of the holiday to return to Victoria, where they formerly resided. Some of them had entered the United States when regulations were not so strict, and because of long residence there, believed they had a right to remain.

Sight Sea Monster

Strange Marine Creature Causes Thrill In Pacific Coastal Waters

A 40-foot sea monster, colored blue and white, with hunched body and great head, has been sighted twice within the past week in the waters between Vancouver Island and the mainland of British Columbia, about 100 miles north of Vancouver.

It was observed on both occasions from the Canadian Pacific steamer "Princess Adelaide," the second time it provided a thrilling close-up by swimming right under the stern of the vessel.

Must Become Naturalized

Mexico City.—All foreign employees of the National Railways must become Mexican citizens within 90 days or be replaced by Mexican employees, the Department of Industry announced recently.

Declared Sane

Paris, France.—A committee of three alienists found that Dr. Paul Gorgulov, assassin of President Paul Doumer, was entirely sane and responsible for his act. Gorgulov's lawyers will demand a new examination.

Observers From Peru

Lima, Peru.—Appointment of Felipe Tardo Clemente Altamir and Jorge Chano, as observers for this country at the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, was announced by the government.

Will Invest Millions In Gold Properties

Increase In Canada's Production Attracts British Mining Circles

Montreal, Que.—Nine million dollars of British, Dutch, and Swiss capital is on deposit in Geneva banks at present, awaiting investment in northern Quebec gold properties, stated A. H. Carlisle, British financier, during an interview here.

Fully 40 per cent. of the amount would be used for the purchase of Canadian mining equipment, while the balance was scheduled for prospecting work in connection with the opening up of new districts, he said. Actual work would start within two months.

Mr. Carlisle, who is representing the continental backers of the undertaking, stated that the steady increase in gold production in the first quarter of 1932 in both Quebec and Ontario had attracted much attention in British mining circles where the need of fostering the production of gold throughout the empire was considered of paramount importance.

New Trade Agreement

United States and France Sign Pact Which Will Stimulate Business

Paris, France.—The United States and France have concluded a trade agreement which cleared the way for further American imports. It wiped out uncertainties against which United States business men have been forced to contend under the French quota system.

The accord grants the United States most favored nation treatment on imports now limited by quotas. United States trade is said to have suffered about $2,500,000 as a result of the quotas. It was estimated that the agreement would recoup $500,000 of this loss.

Award For Military Units

Four Regiments Have Been Given Battle Honor

Ottawa, Ont.—Four cavalry and two infantry regiments of the non-permanent active militia have been awarded the battle honor "North West Canada, 1885," according to an announcement from the department of national defence here.

These regiments now perpetuate units of the old militia who took part in the Riel Rebellion. They are the 12th Manitoba Dragoons, the 16th Canadian Light Horse, the South Alberta Horse, the Manitoba Horse, the Winnipeg Light Infantry, and the Prince Albert Volunteers.

Duty On Vegetables

Beets, Cauliflowers and Peas Come Under New Ruling

Ottawa, Ont.—The Department of Natural Revenue announced in a recent bulletin that the value for duty on beets shall be the true invoice value in Canadian funds plus two cents a pound. For cauliflower, the value for duty shall be the true invoice plus four cents a pound, and for green peas, the invoice value plus two and a half cents. These are now in effect, and in the case of beets, continues until February 15, 1933, for cauliflower and peas, the regulation terminates on November 30 next.

Failed To Make Will

London Paper Says Earl Of Egmout Died Intestate

London, England.—The Daily Mail said the Earl of Egmout, former Fridd's Alberta, rancher, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident outside Southampton on May 6, died intestate.

The newspaper said application for grant of administration of his estate in the names of George Percival, his brother, who arrived here a few days ago, and H. J. Washburn, partner of his solicitors, would be made shortly.

Seeking Agreement

London, Eng.—An important delegation representing the Lancashire cotton industry sailed for Canada on the "Empress of Australia," with the hope of making some agreements with Canadian textile interests in order they may be able to return to England and draw up a report for the British Government, for consideration in connection with the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

Lead Pencil Duty

Ottawa, Ont.—A value for duty purposes of 35 cents a gross on wood lead pencils was imposed by the Minister of National Revenue, when entered under the general or intermediate tariff rates. On coarseness of stock special values were set on keg staves, hoops and headings.

Won the Derby

Motion Picture Comedian, Well-Known To Canadians, Owner Of Speedy Colt

Epson Downs, Eng.—Tom Walls, motion picture comedian, director and sportsman, whose colt, April the Fifth, won the Derby, is well known to Canadian motion picture audiences. He has produced a series of comedy successes at the Aldwych Theatre in London, teamed with Ralph Lynn, known as the "comedian with the monocle." Their joint appearances in the motion pictures "Flander," "One Embarrassing Night" and "Tons of Money" have been well received in Canada and the United States.

Walls has been an active figure in development of the British film industry. He personally directed the film version of Frederick Lonsdale's "On Approval" in which he also played a leading role.

Scientists To Visit West

Going To Post At Fort Rae To Secure Data

Montreal, Que.—En route to Fort Rae in the Northwest Territories to make scientific observations, four young Englishmen left Montreal for Edmonton. In common with scientists the world over, the observations will be made as part of the 1932-33 polar year program.

Those leaving for Western Canada were: W. A. Grinstead, J. L. Kennedy, W. R. Morgans and P. A. Sheppard of the meteorological office, London. The post at Fort Rae will be maintained from August 1, 1932, until August 31, 1933.

MUTUAL GAINS EXPECTED FROM EMPIRE PARLEY

London, England.—Canada goes to the Imperial Economic Conference in Ottawa in July with the clear-cut thought that there must be mutual gains and advantages to all component parts of "the greatest commonwealth of free peoples in the history of the world—the British Empire." Prime Minister R. B. Bennett declared here in addressing a banquet climaxing the ninth annual convention of the Western Ontario Conservative Association.

Speaking to 1,700 persons seated at dinner—the largest political banquet in the history of western Ontario—the Prime Minister dealt with matters of trade and commerce and with various aspects of the forthcoming Imperial Conference. "In July, next month," he said, "we gather together as partners to see how, as far as possible, we may keep our trade within this partnership. We comprise the greatest commonwealth of free peoples the world has ever known. We must trade to the advantage not of one but of all. There must be mutual gains and advantages. For the benefit of all parts of the empire. We need your help and assistance as the people of Canada. As a cross section of public opinion you are representative and we need behind us the collective weight of a solid public opinion."

Agreements must be reached at the Imperial Conference, declared the Canadian Prime Minister, that shall be to the perpetual mutual advantage of all parts of the empire.

How to Keep from Growing Old

Here's one way of hastening the day of reckoning. These daredevil motorcycle riders of the British Army signal corps are demonstrating a simple method of changing wheels of the sidecar while travelling at fifty miles an hour. The exhibition was one of the thrillers staged by the motorbike men at a tournament at Tidworth, England.

NEW JAP PREMIER

Chosen as non-party Premier of Japan to succeed Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai, recently assassinated, Admiral Makoto Sato (above), is a former Governor of Korea, and was a delegate to the Geneva naval conference in 1927. His appointment by the Emperor is said to have met with the approval of all parties.

Oppose Tank Warfare

Outlawry Of Heavy Tanks Urged At Disarmament Conference

Geneva, Switzerland.—The outlawry of heavy tanks as offensive weapons of war, was urged before the land commission of the disarmament conference Wednesday, June 1, by Lord Stanhope, of Great Britain. He declared that Britain would be prepared to scrap all tanks of 25 tons or more, but favored the retention of lighter tanks for ordinary police work.

Hugh R. Wilson, United States delegate, criticized the commission for its inability to arrive at definitions that would draw a line between tanks and armored cars. Apparently political questions, he said, were dictating the attitude of the experts on this question.

Unanimous agreement was reached by the naval commission to extend the age of battleships from 20 to 26 years. The 26-year-age limit for aircraft carriers, was maintained, however, as well as existing age limits on other categories.

Object To Privy Council

Free State Republicans Resist Appeals To Highest Tribunal In Empire

Dublin, Ireland.—The Republican Government of the Irish Free State is drafting a bill to wipe out appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council, the highest tribunal in the empire.

The government, it is understood, hopes to submit the bill to the Dail Eireann before the summer adjournment on July 8. It is an adjunct to the proposals to withhold payment of the land annuities to Great Britain, and to abolish the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the crown.

The right of appeal to the Privy Council is already in effect virtually inoperative in the Free State.

Alberta Pioneer Dead

Pincher Creek, Alberta.—John Plummer Marcellus, member of the first Alberta legislature in 1905 and pioneer of the foothills, is dead. He was 90 years old and was predeceased by his wife a month ago. Mr. Marcellus was born in Morrisburg, Dundas County, Ontario, and came to western Canada in 1889.

Balloons Make A Record Flight

U.S. Army Balloon No. 2 Lands Near Hatton, Saskatchewan

Hatton, Sask.—Dagged by adverse weather conditions throughout the long flight, United States army balloon No. 2, under command of Lieutenant Wilfred J. Paul, landed in a driving rain storm 14 miles north of here, winning the National Balloon race from Omaha, Nebraska, and probably setting a new world's duration record for balloons of its capacity. Lieutenant Paul and his co-pilot, Lieutenant J. H. Bishop, of Scott Field, Ill., had only a vague idea of their whereabouts when they came to earth. In a make-shift shelter the two weary aeronauts curled up and slept until daylight, when they set about dismantling the big ship which had not been damaged by the severe electrical storm.

On arrival here, Lieut. Paul told of his experience on the trip. "We took off from Omaha at 7:30 p.m. May 30," he said, "sailing due north. Several severe lightning storms were narrowly averted during the first night, to avoid which it was necessary to expand a great deal of our ballast supply."

"The next morning found us still sailing in the storm area and above the clouds at an altitude of 12,000 feet. Rain was with us constantly and both Bishop and myself were soaking wet throughout the flight."

Economic Conference

Powers May Meet Around a Council Table In London

Washington.—The United States has responded favorably to a British suggestion that the world powers meet around a council table in London, England, to seek ways of alleviating economic distress.

Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon in London, was instructed to inform Great Britain that the United States thought such a conference "might be of real value in the present depression." He will make it plain, however, that his country will not discuss war debts and reparations.

Britain also is suggesting the conference to France, Italy and the other powers.

The British move for an economic conference follows by almost a year President Hoover's proposal for a moratorium on inter-governmental debts. Once again the world's economic plight has called forth extraordinary measures to meet it.

OATH ABOLITION MIGHT ISOLATE IRISH FREE STATE

Dublin, Ireland.—If the Republican Government of the Irish Free State were to abolish the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the king in the Irish Free State, the risk of becoming a small, isolated state, Senator Bagwell, Independent and opponent of the government, told the senate during debate.

The Free State would be thrown back on her own resources, would be without credit in the civilized world and bereft of all the advantages of the British connection, Senator Bagwell warned.

Contrary to expectations the House was not filled when debate was resumed. There was no indication of any easing of the differences between government and opposition members over the bill and its consequences, one of which will be the elimination of further negotiations with Great Britain.

Senator Wilson, farmer representative and government supporter, argued that even if the oath were removed the king would remain in the constitution as a symbol of the commonwealth.

"I am not frightened by the threat of dire consequences if we pass the bill," declared Senator Johnson, leader of the Labor party. He asserted that far from violating the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty, the oath bill actually implemented that agreement.

During debate in the dail on financial resolution, former finance minister Ernest Blythe said many people were living on incomes derived outside the Free State had left the country and many more intended leaving.

Wednesday night, June 1, it was learned the Dublin tobacco manufacturers, Gallagher, Limited, had given 200 employees a week's notice and had announced the firm would close down. The announcement said it would not carry on in the face of differential duty rates now included in the budget.

CARGOES FROM EUROPE BOOKED FOR H. B. PORT

Montreal, Que.—The first west-bound shipment of cargo to the port of Churchill, in Hudson Bay, has been booked, W. H. Harling, steamship agent, announced here.

Either the S.S. Pennyworth, or the "Isleworth," head general cargo at Antwerp and Liverpool during the first half of July for discharge in Manitoba's new seaport, Mr. Harling announced. Both vessels are owned by the Dalgleish Steam Shipping Company, Limited, which last year sent the "Farnworth" and "Warwick" to Churchill for the first cargoes of grain to be shipped via the Hudson Bay route.

Official announcement of the Saskatchewan wheat pool of the shipment of 280,000 more bushels of wheat via the Hudson Bay Railway has been made.

The big shipment of wheat, the second to be routed through Churchill, Man., Canada's northern port, will begin moving shortly. The wheat has been purchased by Louis Dreyfus and Co., Ltd., international grain exporters, with headquarters at Paris, France.

The wheat forming the 280,000 additional bushels will be taken from northern Saskatchewan elevators, pool officials state. It will move soon and the first shipment for London will be issued within the next few days.

Churchill grain facilities will be crammed with the second shipment. The port is at present equipped to handle only 2,500,000 bushels. The second pool shipment makes the total grain handled reach nearly to that mark.

Already nearly 2,000,000 bushels of wheat is rolling north to Churchill, some of it not stored in the Churchill terminal elevator. This grain was purchased through the wheat pool by the Continental Grain Company for export to Europe.

There is some prospect of an early shipping season on the Bay route with first ships reaching Churchill by the end of June.

Before that time grain will be moved up to Churchill and stored in the 2,000,000 bushel elevator. Permits are required from Hon. R. J. Manion, Federal Minister of Railways and Canals, before grain can be moved up the railway.

Discounts War With Russia

Rumors Of Dissection Are Unfounded Says Japanese Premier

Tokyo, Japan.—Vice-minister Minoru Satou, Japan's Premier and Foreign Minister, asserted in a written statement that there is absolutely no danger of war between his country and Soviet Russia.

"The Japanese Government has stated repeatedly that no danger of war with the Soviet Union exists," he said. "The attitude of the Soviet Government respecting affairs in Manchuria has been perfectly correct, and we only wish that the Soviet Government might see a way to repose such a further measure of confidence in Japan's concentration of troops in the Far East."

"This concentration, the Japanese government believes, is the real source of recent unfounded rumors of dissection between our two countries."

Dominion Day Dinner

Prince Of Wales To Attend Event To Be Held In London

London, England.—The Prince of Wales will attend the Dominion Day dinner at the Savoy here on June 30, presided over by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain.

The event this year takes the form of a dinner to the British Government's delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference, occurring almost on the evening of their departure for Ottawa.

Newspaper Advertising

Toronto, Ont.—One New York department store sold more than $90,000,000 worth of merchandise last year through the medium of newspaper advertising, which cost less than $2,000,000, C. H. Henry, local advertising man, told the Advertising and Sales' Club meeting here.

Death Penalty For Kidnapping

Washington.—The Cochran bill to make inter-state kidnapping a federal crime punishable by death was approved by the United States House of Representatives judiciary committee.

Gardening Notes

Treatment Of The Lawn, Buying Shrubs and Other Useful Information

Lime is not the cure-all for a lawn which many are inclined to believe. As a matter of fact it should be used rather sparingly, as often an acid soil, which the lime tends to correct, actually discourages the growth of dandelions and plantain, two weeds which are a very common pest in most parts of the country. A rich soil, however, is necessary to promote heavy growth and the dark green, fine sward we are after. Good drainage is also important and sunlight for most types of grass, though if our location is shaded we can secure special grass which will do well under these conditions. Fertilizer of the commercial variety, relatively high in nitrogen, gives good results. One should be careful in applying the fertilizer to prevent burning. Dissolving in water first or applying just before a heavy shower or watering is the safest way. An annual application of pulverized sheep manure will supply both nourishment and humus and, unlike ordinary manure, this will not fill the grass with a lot of weed seeds as the sheep manure has been steamed during the pulverizing process to kill anything of this kind.

There is no object to be gained and often losses result where one sows half way across the continent for plants, shrubbery and trees. Purchasing from the nearest reliable source is best as then we are sure of getting something adapted to our section of the country. While the stock arrives if we are not ready to plant immediately, open the parcel, spread out the roots in a shallow trench and cover firmly with damp soil. Above all things do not let the roots be exposed to sun or wind and if the plants are very dry on arrival, bury stems and all for a day or two.

While a very minor item, as far as cost is concerned, seed, like the foundation of a building, is all important. In fact carrying the comparison still further seed is the support upon which the whole of gardening depends. Soil, location, climate and cultivation may be perfect, but without the right quality of seed and of a kind particularly adapted to our Canadian conditions we cannot possibly succeed. A certain plant may give ideal results in the States or in England, but because it is not adapted to local conditions it may be a miserable failure here. On this account, it is most important to secure something especially suitable to Canada. Before one is tempted to depend absolutely on seed saved from one's own garden last year, it should be remembered that much of this is probably a mixture of several shades, varieties and different qualities of plants. The bees which mix the pollen are no respecters of color, and when they get through with sweet peas, for instance, they have probably mixed things up so much that weakly colored blooms are sure to result. Then, again, the seed saved is usually from the later and inferior flowers, so, in the case of vegetables, from late maturing plants, and in consequence is quite liable to give late and disappointing plants. On commercial seed farms, varieties are grown in large solid blocks so that there is no chance of mixing and, in the case of high-class flowers, blooms are screened against bees and the pollen mixed by hand. There is no attempt to produce flowers for bouquet purposes or early vegetables for the table, but seed only, and that is selected from the earliest and most vigorous plants.

Most of us are fond of mushrooms but most of us, also, are afraid to indulge our appetite because of fears for we will be the unlucky ones who get one of the very few poisonous kinds. Before risking those gathered in the woods or pastures we should make ourselves thoroughly familiar with the different species which are now fully described in various Government bulletins. To ensure an adequate supply, regardless of the season, and to be positive regarding the safety of our supply, however, we can grow these ourselves. Practically any seed store lists mushroom spawn and will supply same along with the simple directions for growing in an old root cellar or other dark corner.

Good Advice For Critics

Read Public Accounts To Know How Governments Spend Money

What do governments do with all the money? To people who constantly ask this question we suggest an examination of a return table in Parliament. What it shows is that for pensions alone Canada last year paid out $65,636,268. More than a million and a quarter dollars each week.

War pensions alone are now taking over $46,000,000 annually. And on top of that there are Old Age Pensions, pensions for retired seamen, pensions for retired judges, pensions for others.

All of us asked for these pensions, supported them. No one, certainly, begrudges the pensions that go to war veterans. But it is well that occasionally, we be reminded of what we are doing, of the money that is involved.

There are people who want to have their cake, yet eat it. They are for all sorts of Government and State services for all sorts of social and progressive legislation, yet they are the same people who are forever crying out that governments should economize.

The truth is that in the matter of nearly three-fourths of the money it pays out, the Dominion Government can't economize. Can't economize, that is, unless Parliament repeals Parliament's own statutes. The Government can't cut on war or old age pensions, can't cut on the interest on the public debt (which is about $120,000,000 a year), can't cut on a score of other things.

Sometimes we think it a great pity that the average citizen lacks time and inclination, or perhaps opportunity to read the public accounts. If he could read them, it might make him a little less critical of government expenditure, perhaps a little less inclined to shout for every proposal that somebody makes for some new legislation that involves new government expenditure.

Hard Question To Answer

Why Circus Drew Record Crowd In Such Hard Times

Broadway is deeply puzzled at the remarkable business done by the circus in its twenty-three day engagement at Madison Square Garden, New York. Close to $700,000 was grossed, more than the big top show has done even in boom years. Why this should have occurred has Broadway baffled. Especially since the whole country is in the midst of a nation-wide depression. The thing cannot be explained merely on the basis of the fact that a good show was given, because the circus has given better shows at times. In fact, the show was cut down. Several of the more famous performers refused to join because of the reduced wages offered.

What is the explanation? Is it that the public wants to take its mind off hard times and, so, went to the circus? Then why are not the movies and plays flourishing? Is it that the depression has made the public wish it was young again, and under the protection and care of parents with nothing to worry about and so brought a nostalgic interest, which has reached to the benefit of the circus?

What is the reason?

Increase In Inventions
Depression, as well as necessity, may lay claim to being the parent of invention for within the last six months the number of inventions patented or awaiting patent papers is greater than in any similar period of record in this country. It seems that unemployed men are using their enforced leisure to perfect mechanical devices of all sorts.

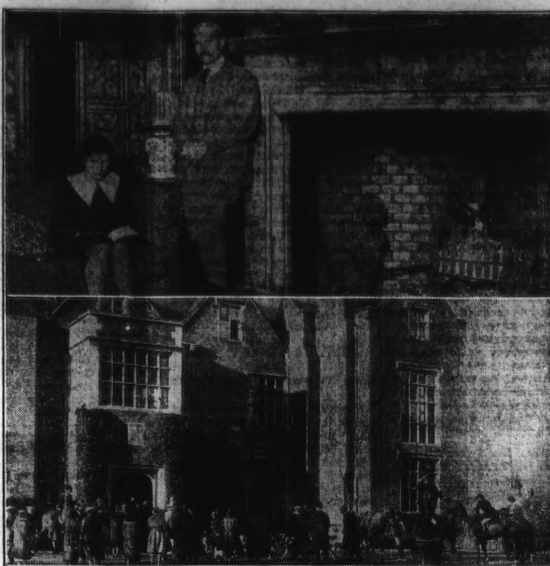

Museum workers who were reconstructing one of the long-extinct saber-toothed tigers, devised false teeth of metal to make the animal look more real.

COUNTRY RESIDENCE OF BRITAIN'S PRIME MINISTERS IN PERIL.

"Chequers," the British Prime Minister's official country residence, is closed. Police guard the house night and day outside, and at night a Great Dane has the run of the interior. During the next few months this beautiful Old Buckinghamshire residence will be given over entirely to the British Office of Works for serious essential repairs. Experts discovered that the bulk of the timber in the house has been dangerously ravaged by the death watch beetle and dry rot. The top photograph shows Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter beside the famous old fireplace in the great hall. The bottom picture shows part of the exterior.

Has Various Methods

In Many Countries Milkman Is Picturehouse Figure

The milkman is an international character, though he varies in methods and appearance in as many lands as he piles his trade. In Canada he drives a spotless wagon propelled either by horse or gasoline. In many parts of Holland he delivers his merchandise in a two-wheeled cart drawn by dogs. In southern Europe he specializes in goat's milk and drives his goats from doorstep to doorstep, milking them in view of his customers. In Costa Rica, the milkman rides from house to house astride a horse with milk cans strapped to the animal. Many of the horseback milkmen of San Jose carry umbrellas to shield the milk from the scorching rays of the tropical sun.

Poor But Honest

Jobless Man Allowed To Sleep In Bakery Died Of Starvation

Poor but honest was the Mexican peon, name unknown, who could not find work in Mexico City. He obtained permission of the owner of a bakery to sleep inside his shop to keep warm. The other morning he was found dead on the floor of the shop. Doctors testified that the man died of starvation. When the police investigated, Victor Telles, owner of the shop, declared that never had he found a loaf of bread nor even a little cake missing.

Tests at the United States Bureau of Standards have shown the sole leather cut from over the kidneys of a steer outwears that from any other portion of a hide.

Views On Weapons Of Warfare Differ

Nations Hold Variety Of Opinion Regarding "Offensive" Machines

A report containing many divergent views on the question of what weapons are most offensive was adopted by the Naval Commission of the disarmament conference.

The report showed not only that the great powers differed among themselves but also held views on the most important points contrary to those of the small powers. Great Britain held battleships and aircraft carriers belonged in the defensive category; she was supported by the United States and by Japan in respect to battleships. Nearly all the smaller nations, however, denounced them as offensive arms.

Japan defended submarines and denounced aircraft-carriers. Argentina regarded battleships as offensive but in general endorsed the position of Britain and United States on the question of aircraft carriers.

Michigan City Holds Annual Tulip Festival

Over Two Million Were In Bloom For Show In May

With more than 2,000,000 tulips in bloom, Holland, Michigan, held its annual Tulip Festival in May. The festival was inaugurated in 1930, and last year attracted thousands from the Middle-West. As a festival preliminary, scores of girls of Dutch descent, attired in Dutch costumes, scrub the main street. This ceremony recalls a scene typical in The Netherlands.

More than 300,000 tulips were in bloom in Centennial Park, Tulip Lane, extending for four miles on four streets, offered a display of tulips of various colors.

Attracted By Mystery Trips

Idea Of English Railway Officials Made Double Appeal To Passengers

There is a man of imagination at the head of the passenger traffic department of the Great Western Railway in England. He is the person who evolved the idea of a cheap excursion trip to an unexplored destination, first tried out on Good Friday when a Hikers' Mystery Express, started out from Paddington station under sealed orders. All that the passengers knew was that they were bound for some attractive spot on a day's holiday. The destination, when revealed, turned out to be one of the beauty spots on the Upper Thames.

The appeal here was a double one—to the sense of mystery and to the gambling instinct. As against the competition of the private automobile and the "excursion buses, railroad travel suffers from lack of flexibility. In an automobile you may go where you please, at least in theory; in practice you go where every other automobile goes. The railroad route is fixed. The idea of a train leaving for the unknown removes that handicap. As for gambling, who can resist paying a dollar for a trip that may turn out to worth $12.5?

Thinks "Buy British" Slogan Bad Policy

Baron Kirkley Warns Against Use In Normal Times

Baron Kirkley in his presidential address before a conference of the Commercial Travellers' Association at Newcastle, England, sounded a warning concerning the slogan "Buy British."

"However justified it may be in a time of crisis with an unfavorable balance of trade," he said, "it has in it real elements of danger in normal times, especially for a nation as dependent as ours on imports of raw materials and foods. It is the first step on the road to economic nationalism."

He added that the desire to be self-sufficient and independent, a disease from which the world was suffering, was a main cause of the world depression.

Lawlessness In U.S.

New York Easter Mothers To Lack Of Sense In Clinging With Criminals

Some "military" enforcement of law may be required to rout the underworld that threatens to become the "overworld." Rev. Dr. Henry Howard declared in a recent sermon at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York.

"The eyes of all the world are on us, inquiring why with all our elaborate system of law we are not more efficient in coping with the criminal," Dr. Howard said. Alluding specifically to the slaying of the Lindbergh baby, he continued: "This last tragedy, which has sent a thrill of sick horror round the globe is a terrible indictment of our method or want of method in administering the laws of this great Republic."

"We have brought about through our careless and go-as-you-please indifference to civic affairs an inverted order in which instead of the criminal class being fearful of offending the officers of the law, the officers of the law are themselves afraid of the criminal class. The latter are so highly organized, so richly subsidized, so efficiently weaponed and so desperate in gunplay that the guardians of our lives are either scared into connivance or silenced with bullets through the brain."

"If the underworld in this city is not to become the overworld, with the forces of lawlessness and anarchy running rampant and unrestrained, it looks as if some sort of military reinforcement would have to be called in to rout out and round up the poisonous brood of vipers."

"For the conditions of things as they are today are all more or less accountable. The responsibility for a clean and wholesome civic life is every citizen's concern, and yet how few are there among us who do not touch the burdens of the State with one of their fingers. If we do not exercise our right at the ballot box and put our conscience into our vote we have no right to complain that we are misgoverned in public affairs."

"This heart-breaking tragedy that has kindled world-wide indignation demands that its perpetrators be hunted down. There ought to be no place of refuge, no person in the country who gives them shelter or comes between them and the arm of the law. The freedom and security of every little child among us will depend on the extermination of such vermin from the face of the earth."

Treatment Of Pneumonia

Very Important. Discovery Is Announced By Toronto Physician

Discovery in the Connaught laboratories in Toronto of a quick method of analyzing types of pneumonia to allow the administration of the serum particularly adapted to prevent developments was greeted by the Canadian Public Health Association as one of the greatest advances yet made in the fight against the disease.

Announcement of this discovery was made before the annual convention of the health officials by Dr. M. M. Brown of Toronto.

Doctors stated Dr. Brown's announcement practically means the solution of the pneumonia problem. Dr. D. T. Fraser, also of the Connaught laboratories, reported the discovery of a serum, which is expected to help materially in the prevention and treatment of whooping cough.

Lack Of Character

Roger W. Babson Offers Reasons For Present Depression

The present economic depression has been caused, according to Roger W. Babson, Boston statistician, by deficient character in business men, debt and lack of saving.

As a solution he offered religious education and Sunday observance by business men to abolish bad character; legislation against borrowing more than a certain per cent. of an individual's earnings, and enforced savings.

Babson said Calvin Coolidge, not President Hoover, was responsible for present conditions. Coolidge, he said, "got the business men on a stipendiary and then the ladder was knocked down."

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

MARGARET FIEDLER

Author of
"The Splendid Polly," "The Hermit of Far East," Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

CHAPTER XXII.—Continued.

Burke fitted the key into the lock of the door and turned it skilfully. "You prim little thing! I was only teasing you," he said. "Do you mean you're really as frightened as all that of what people may say? I thought you were above minding gossip of ill-natured scandal-mongers."

Jean gazed eagerly at the excuse. It would serve to hide the real motive of her impulsive action.

"No woman can afford to ignore scandal," she answered quickly. "After all, a woman's happiness depends mostly on her reputation."

Burke's eyes narrowed suddenly. He looked at her speculatively, as though her words had suggested a new train of thought, but he made no comment. Somewhat abstractedly he opened the door and allowed her to pass out and down the stairs. Outside the door of the inn they found the mare and dog-cart in charge of an ostler.

"The mare's foot's rather badly torn, sir," volunteered the man, "but the blacksmith thinks she'll travel all right. Far to go, sir?"

"Nine or ten miles," responded Burke laconically. He was curiously silent on the way home. It was as though the chain of reasoning started by Jean's comment on the relation scandal bore to a woman's happiness still absorbed him. His brows were knit together morose.

Jean supposed he was probably reproaching himself for his conduct that afternoon. After all, she reflected, he was normally a man of decent instincts, and though the food-tide of his passion had swept him into taking advantage of the circumstances which had flung them together in the solitude of the little inn, he would be the first to agree, when in a less lawless frame of mind, that his conduct had been unpardonable. Although, even from that, one could not premise that he would not be equally culpable another time!

Blaise had proved painfully correct in his estimate of the dangers attaching to unexploded bombs. Jean admitted it to herself ruefully. And she was honest enough also to admit that, with his warning ringing in her ears and with the memory of what had happened in the rose-garden to illumine it, she herself was not altogether free of blame for the incidents of the afternoon.

She had played with Burke, even encouraged him to a certain extent, allowing him to be in her company far more frequently than was altogether wise, considering the circumstance of his hot-headed love for her. It was somewhat of a mental strain of surprise that she found herself seeking for excuses for his behaviour—actually trying to supply adequate reasons why she should overlook it! His brooding, sulky silence as he drove along, mile after mile, was not without its appeal to the inherent femininity of her. He did not try to excuse or palliate his conduct, made no attempt to sue for forgiveness. He loved her and he had let her see it; manlike, he had taken what the opportunity offered. And she didn't suppose he regretted it.

The ostler smiled, twined the corners of her lips. Burke was not the type of man to regret an unlawful kiss or two!

She was conscious that—as usual, where he was concerned—her virtuous indignation was coming away in the most discreditable and hopeless fashion. There was an audacious charm about the man, an attractiveness that would not be denied in the hot-headed way he went, all out, for what he wanted.

Other women besides Jean had found it equally difficult to resist. His sheer virility, with its splendid disregard for other people's claims and—what was worse—his belief that the best should assuredly be to the strong, earned him forgiveness where, for misdeeds not half so flagrant, a less impetuous sinner would have been promptly shown the door.

But no woman—not even the women to whom he had made love without excuse of loving—had ever shown Burke the door or given him the kind of treatment which he had thoroughly well merited twenty times over. And Jean was no exception to the rule.

At least he had some genuine claim on her forgiveness—the claim of a love which had swept through his very being like a flame, the fierce passion of a man to whom love means adoration, worship—above all, possession.

And what woman can ever long remain angry with a man who loves her—and whose very offence is the outcome of the overwhelming quality of that love? Very few, and certainly none who was so very much a woman, so essentially feminine as Jean.

It was in a very small voice, which seemed to make itself slightly detached, that she at last broke the silence which had reigned for the last six miles or so.

"I suppose I shall have to forgive you—more or less. One can't exactly quarrel with one's next door neighbour."

Burke smiled grimly. "Can't one?"

"Well, there's Judith to be considered."

A rather curious expression came into his eyes.

"Yes," he agreed. "There's Judith to be considered." There was a hint of irony in the dry tones. "It would complicate matters if I were not on speaking terms with my brother," pursued Jean.

She waited for his answer, but none came. The threatened possibility contained in her speech seemed to have fallen on deaf ears, and the silence seemed likely to continue indefinitely.

Jean prompted him gently. "You might, at least, say you are sorry for—"

"For kissing you?"—swiftly. "Yes"—flushing a little.

"But I'm not kissing you"—with deliberation—"is one of the things I shall never regret. When I come to make my peace with Heaven and repent in sackcloth and ashes for my sin of omission and commission, I shan't include this afternoon in the list. I assure you. It was worth it if I pay for it afterwards in hell."

He was silent a moment. Then: "I never kiss you against your will. I'll never kiss you against your will. I'll never kiss you against your will."

Jean smiled at the characteristic speech. She supposed this was as near an apology as Burke would ever get.

"That's all right, then," she replied composedly. "Because I shall never do that."

He flicked the chestnut lightly with the whip. "I think you will," he said. "I think"—he looked at her somewhat enigmatically—"that you will give me everything I want—some day."

CHAPTER XXIII.

On the Side of the Angels

Throughout the day following that of the expedition to Dartmoor, Nick seemed determined to keep out of Jean's way. It was as though he feared she might force some confidence from him that he was loth to give, and, in consequence, deliberately avoided being alone with her.

On the second day, however, as luck would have it, she encountered him in the corridor just outside her own sitting-room. He was striding blithely along, obviously not heeding where he was going, and had almost collided with her before he realized that she was there.

He jerked himself backwards. "I beg your pardon," he muttered, still without looking at her, and made as though to pass on.

Jean checked him with a hand on his sleeve. She had not watched the dogged astuteness of his face throughout yesterday to no purpose, and now, as her swift gaze searched it astute, she was convinced that something fresh had occurred to stir him. It was impossible for Jean to see a friend in trouble without wanting to "stand by."

"Nick, old thing, what's wrong?" she asked.

He stared at her unseeing. "Wrong?" he muttered. "Wrong?"

"Yes. Come in here and let's talk it out—whatever it is." With gentle insistence she drew him into her sitting-room. "Now," she said, when she had established him in an easy-chair by the open window and herself in another, "what's gone wrong? Are you still boiling over about that trick the Adrian played on Claire the day of the picnic?"

She spoke lightly—more lightly than the occasion warranted—of set purpose, hoping to reduce the tension under which Nick was obviously labouring. His face hurt her. The familiar lax insouciance which was half its charm was blotted out of it by heavy cloud tragic significance. He looked as though he had not slept for days, and his eyes, the gleamy burnt out of them by pain, seemed sunken in his head.

He stared at her blankly for a moment. Then he seemed to awaken to the meaning of her question. (To Be Continued.)

Care of Veterans

Funds Available For Soldiers Who Suffered in German Prison Camps

Reports have reached veterans' organizations in various centres that there is no money in the reparations treasury for Canadian veterans who suffered ill-treatment in German prison camps, whereas the sum of $300,000 was granted to naturalized Americans who lost relatives and property in the Turkish massacres. It was explained at the secretary of state department, that these reports are not accurate. A vote of $500,000 was put in the estimates last session to look after the Canadian veterans who suffered in German prison camps. That amount is available.

Under the Lausanne treaty it was arranged by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan that the $500,000 in Turkish pounds, credit of Turkey in Germany, be used to reimburse the Armenians who suffered in the massacre. A commission sat in Paris and adjudicated on these claims.

As a result of the total of over $500,000 were filed at Ottawa by Armenians in Canada who had become British subjects and who had lost property, fathers or mothers or wives or children in the massacre. Of these claims, the only ones to be entertained by the Paris commission were those whose wives or children had been lost, in which cases certain solatias were granted.

The remainder of the claims were turned back to Ottawa, and for years the government struggled with the problem as to what should be done with them. It was finally decided to award these claimants a total of $300,000 taken out of the full vote of $500,000.

A New War Weapon

Machine-Gun Rifle Shoots From 400 To 500 Bullets a Minute

Machine gun rifle which may replace the present type of hand rifle used by the British army, has been tested satisfactorily. It shoots 400 to 500 bullets a minute and can be fired from the shoulder like the ordinary rifle from a kneeling position or any other necessary. The weight is approximately a few pounds more than the ordinary rifle, but half that of the machine gun now used.

YOUR MIRRORRED SELF

What do you see in your fellow men, Those whom you daily meet In office, and store, and crowded car; Those whom you pass in the street? Bitterness, jealousy, pride and greed, Folly and false disguise; Are these the passions their looks reveal, Hate, and its cruel train?

Glancing there, can you read instead Purity, love and trust, Finding in every stranger's eyes Something serene and just? What do you see in your fellow man? Ere you reply, beware! Part of the man you are yourself Waits for you mirrored there!

Hard To Grow Trees

Climate Of The Earth, On The Whole Not Favorable To Forest Growth

Most people do not realize that the climate of the earth as a whole is unfavorable to forest growth. Eighty per cent. of the land on this earth is too high, or too dry, or too cold to support a commercial forest. Forests really have a hard time to maintain themselves in this world. You wouldn't think that, would you, by the way we treat them? It is really only on comparatively narrow coastal strips of the continents, and on oceanic islands, where rainfall is high and the temperature in the growing period is relatively high, that forests have an easy time in maintaining themselves. On the greater portion of the earth it is nip and tuck whether the forests or grasslands and deserts will prevail.—Dr. Clifton D. Howe, University Of Toronto.

Passengers Drop From Airplane In Chairs

Demonstration Of New Method Ensuring Safety Was A Success

Four men were parachuted from an airplane in a demonstration of a new method to release passengers from distressed ships. All landed safely. They had cleared the ship in five seconds, Harry Trusty, a designing engineer, calculated.

In a cabin monoplane, 4,000 feet over the airport, at Santa Ana, California, the pilot pulled a lever. Two of the passengers were swung outward through doors in the fuselage and scudded off into the air, while parachutes blossomed above their heads. The pilot pulled a second lever. The other two passengers swung through two more doors, and the parachutes automatically took them in tow. All four landed sitting on the same seats they occupied in the "plane."

Mr. Trusty describes the device: The doors in the sides of the fuselage open automatically when the pilot pulls the lever. Davits swing outward with each seat and an automatic trip drops the seat once it has swung clear of the ship. The chutes are carried under the seats. A metal hand slips around the waist of the passenger as the device begins to operate to discourage panic.

A Remedy For Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medical cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain.

"Forward To The Land"

New Scheme For Canada Is An Improved Idea

Canada proposes a new unemployment relief plan that will bring idle labor and idle land together. No more launching of public works to give jobs to the jobless, but instead, Dominion, provinces and municipalities would share in a colonization scheme for men willing to undertake an agricultural life. From $400 to $600 would be advanced to the new farmer, who would be aided and directed by a commission. If the provinces agree the Federal Government will start the plan immediately. This isn't the familiar "back to the land" scheme, says Labor Commissioner Gordon, but a "forward to the land" scheme—an improved idea with an improved promise of success.

Little Helps For This Week

"Your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things."—Matthew vi. 32a

The dear God hears and pities all; He knoweth all our wants; And what we blindly ask of Him, His love withhold or grant. And so I sometimes think our prayers Might well be merged in one; And nest and perch, and hearth and church Repeat, "Thy will be done!"

What Christ's prayer was, all true prayer must be; all true prayer must pray with the great prayer in sight. You must feel the mountains above you while you work upon your little garden. Little by little your special wishes and the eternal will of God will grow in harmony with one another; all conflict will die away, and the great spiritual landscape from horizon to horizon will be but one.—Lucy Larcom.

Golden Key Notes

The regular meeting of the Golden Key was held at the home of Melva English. During the business meeting the members discussed and planned for a picnic on the last Thursday of June.

On account of examinations the girls will not hold any more meetings during this month.

After the business session the meeting took the form of a sewing bee, candies were passed around, and Melva entertained the group by step dancing.
